Extra Buses Added to Regular Run To Ease Vacation Crowds Friday

Christmas recess at Bowling Green university will begin Friday afternoon for most students. Officially it won't start until Saturday noon, but only a small number of classes are held the last day of the week.

Classes will be resumed at 7 a.m. Monday, January 6. Thus there will be two full weeks including three week ends.

Extra buses will be added to each regular run of the Cincinnati and Lake Erie lines to ease the Christmas vacation crowds. Extra buses will also be run both north and south at 12:30. The Greyhound has arranged for no extra transportation.

The Library will resume normal schedule Monday, Jan. 6, at 8 a.m.

Schedule Changes Will Provide Longer Vacation For Easter

Changes recently made in the university schedule as published in the catalog provide for a longer vacation for Easter and delay commencement until June 12. Other holidays for the remainder of the year are Washington's birthday and Memorial day. There will be no extra vacation other than the regular week end between semesters.

The corrected schedule for the remainder of the year is:

Final examinations from Thursday, Jan. 23, until Friday, Jan. 31; second semester registration of new students, Monday, Feb. 3; registration of old students, Tuesday, Feb. 4; classes begin, Wednesday, Feb. 5; Washington's birthday holiday, Saturday, Feb. 22; Easter recess from Friday noon, April 4, until Monday morning, April 14; Memorial Day holiday, Friday, May 30; final examinations from Saturday, June 7, until Thursday, June 12; Commencement at 4 p.m. Thursday, June 12.

Summer session registration will be Monday, June 16, classes will begin the next day and Commencement will be at 4 p.m. Friday, Aug. 8.

The post summer session will extend from Monday, Aug. 11, until Friday, Aug. 29.

Frosh Will Elect Officers Thursday

Officers of the freshman class will be voted upon all day tomorrow in the Well. Only verbal campaigning will be allowed with the area within 20 feet of the polls restricted. Each freshman who wishes to vote must present his or her Ac card to identify themselves.

Candidates for president of the Class of '50 are John Adams, Dave Cof, Mort Edgington, Ralph Scott, and Charles Yoder.

Vice-presidential nominees are James Armbruster, James Hof, and Orville Jenkins.

Candidates for secretary are Joyce Frey, Henry Stough, Rosemarie Venable, and Trudy Whaley.

Running for treasurer are Dick Cotner, Harvey Coulter, Charles Matthews, and Bob Weber.

Radio Shows Resume Broadcasts Jan. 11

The university radio show heard over stations WTOD, Toledo, and WFIN, Findlay, has been discontinued until Jan. 11, according to Prof. Sidney Stone, director of the radio bureau. At that time the dormitory units will resume individual weekly programs.

Last Saturday students in radio presented the play, "He Loved Her—But She Couldn't Cook," over WFIN. The cast included Evalie Smith, Robert Staldt, Shirley Figins, Katharine Heywood, and Jeanne Miles. Miss Miles, Miriam Johnson, and Marjorie Saskowski were technicians for the production.

The 10 a.m. show, directed by Betty Paxton, was built around the month of December. Included in the program was "an accurate Mummies play," as stated in the radio catalog received by the department. A group of students from the music department sang Christmas songs.

Phi Mu Sends Gifts To Local Orphanage

Following their business meeting last Wednesday evening, members of Phi Mu sorority wrapped Christmas gifts for the orphans at the Wood County Juvenile home, West Wooster street. The sorority has adopted as an annual project the sending of gifts to the orphanage.

Plans Made For Next Semester

Plans for pre-registration for the second semester were outlined today by the registrar's office.

Seniors should contact the deans of their respective colleges during the week following Christmas vacation in regard to second semester registration.

Details for freshman, sophomore, and junior registration will be posted on the official bulletin board in the Well, January 6, and next issue of the Bee Gee News will contain a schedule of hours during which students may confer with their advisors.

The Christmas Story

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem: (because he was of the house and lineage of David:)

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them. Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you: Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying.

Glory be to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

it's in the cards

The colony of upper classmen now residing at Kohl hall will be moved to other quarters so freshmen girls scattered through Williams, Shatzel, and off campus can be housed together. Freshmen girls in the Women's building, however, will remain there, Arch B. Conklin, dean of students, announced this week.

Finnish Artist Joins Faculty

Esko K. Rentola, Finnish commercial artist and sculptor, of Grayland, Wash., will join the staff of the art department, next semester, as an art instructor.

Following his graduation from Grays Harbor Junior college, on a scholarship, Mr. Rentola attended the State College of Washington. Terminating his studies there he spent a year teaching art at the college. An ex-G.I., he served in a camouflage battalion in the army air forces. He is a member of Delta Phi Delta.

At present, Mr. Rentola is acting as an assistant and interpreter to Mauno Oittinen, famous Finnish sculptor, who is designing and constructing a war memorial for the city of San Francisco.

"Palette," the fine art honorary publication, has published several of his articles on Finnish art and he is now writing and illustrating a book on the same subject.

Prof W. F. Wankleman, head of the university art department and Mr. Rentola were colleagues at the State College of Washington. They will work together, here, to give students a larger art curriculum from which to choose.

Next semester Mr. Rentola will teach courses in sculpture, design, and commercial art.

Pre-Med Students Take Aptitude Test Here on Jan. 11

Students who will be applicants for admission to medical college in September 1947 will be given the opportunity to take the Association of Medical Colleges professional aptitude test at Bowling Green State university Jan. 11.

The examination is a series of tests designed to show the nature and extent of the candidate's ability and knowledge in comparison with other candidates for the study of medicine. Results in this examination must be submitted by all candidates for admission to medical colleges as auxiliary evidence of a potentiality for medical study.

Only For '47 Candidates

Only those students who have a reasonable likelihood of being bona fide applicants for admission to a medical college in September 1947 are to take the test. Those who do not expect to apply for admission to medical college until 1948 should not take the test on Jan. 11.

The test will be given from 9 a.m. to noon and 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. Those taking the test will report at 8:45 a.m. Applications to take the test and further information concerning arrangements are available through K. H. McFall, director of guidance. All who are to take the test should apply before Dec. 20.

Norman Corwin, Orson Welles On English Dept. Records

New recordings recently purchased by the English department are the "Masterpieces on Literature" and "Appreciation of Poetry," by Norman Corwin who at present works under the auspices of the national council for teachers of English.

Also included in the recordings is Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," by Orson Welles, a member of Mercury Theatre.

Campus Dorms Will Hear AWS Sponsored Yule Sing

The annual AWS-sponsored Christmas sing will be held tomorrow evening beginning at 6:40. All men students are asked to meet at the Mens' gym at 6:40 where they will respond with "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" following singing of "Jingle Bells" by the AWS legislative board.

Each campus residence will then be serenaded ten minutes apart in the following order:

vets get paid

There will be no reduction in subsistence allowance for student veterans who are out of college during the holiday recess, according to the Veterans Administration. Student veterans will continue to receive the full subsistence allowance to which they are entitled and the time they are on holiday vacation will be charged against their period of eligibility.

Carols Are Heard Over P.A. System

Strains of familiar Christmas carols began floating across the campus Tuesday morning and will continue each day between classes, at noon, and in the evening. The tradition was established five years ago by F. E. Beatty, assistant registrar, and has been carried on each year since.

The carols are played in 108 Ad building and are sent across the campus by remote control through loudspeaker horns on the roof of the Ad building. Engineers in charge of the playing of the carols this year are Charles Coddington and Byron Powell.

Director Walsh Wins Play Writing Contest

Frederick G. Walsh, associate director of the University Theatre, received honorable mention in a nation-wide play writing contest. The contest was sponsored by the Play club of New York city in which Mr. Walsh entered his one-act drama, "And Say, Amen."

Mr. Walsh is not new in this field of endeavor having been for two years the holder of a Rockefeller Foundation Fellowship and assistant technical director for the Carolina Players. He was also for some time the chief designer for the Baltimore Museum of Arts.

Mr. Walsh has worked in several plays professionally including such productions as "The Lost Colony," "The Highland Call," and "The House of Connolly." His latest effort was the direction of the world premier of "The Invaders" by Robert Finch here last week.

North Dorm Nears Completion; Migration Will End Today

Shortage of materials and lack of government appropriations stalled the work on North Dorm. Yet slowly but surely it has been dragged to completion with the results that by today all but two wings will be occupied.

Since Dec. 4 the steady migration of men students to North Dorm from their various improvised quarters on campus has been going on. By this evening, according to Dr. Prout, the movement should be completed. The unfinished lower floors of "C" and "D" wings will be available to the men assigned there after the Christmas holidays.

Newsprint Shortage, May Curtail 'News'

Sure of newsprint only for the month of January, continuance of the Bee Gee News after that time depends upon fulfillment of a promise by the paper company for another paper shipment if and when possible.

Part of the last issue of the Bee Gee News had to be printed upon book paper and the partial shipment of newsprint received last Wednesday will last only for the next five issues.

Marshal Sherer of the Wood County Republican which prints the paper states that the situation now is more critical than ever before. Due to the low cost of newsprint, the mills use the scarce wood pulp for the more expensive types of papers.

6:50 Kohl hall will respond with "Joy to the World" following "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

7:20 Women's building will respond with "The Shepherds Watch their Flocks" when serenaded with "The First Noel."

8:30 Everyone will gather at the circle in front of the Ad building and sing three numbers: "I'll be Home for Christmas," "White Christmas," and "Silent Night."

After the presentation of the choral groups the entire group will sing the first verse of "Silent Night" together, and then everyone will turn and walk toward his residence, while quietly humming "Silent Night." It is requested that there be no talking until students reach the edge of the campus or enter their respective dormitories.

A Cappella Choir Begins Music Tours

The A Cappella choir, directed by Dr. James P. Kennedy, made its first Toledo appearance Dec. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Second Baptist Church. The group sang at a vesper service in Waterville before the Toledo concert.

The choir was organized last spring and includes 53 student voices. The concert was the initial performance of the tours for this year.

Fair ball or foul!

an editorial

Bowling Green now ranks among the most important colleges in basketball. Recognition as fifth best in the nation from Colliers magazine last week came as no very great surprise since the Falcon cagers have twice been invited to the national contests in Madison Square Garden and may look forward to a return this year.

To date the Falcons have emerged undefeated although they have met strong clubs such as Pepperdine and Western Kentucky as well as teams over which we had considerable advantage. Most of the games have been played on the home floor and this has added to the interest in what has become our major intercollegiate sport.

Unfortunately this interest seems to become rage all too easily whenever a doubtful decision is made against us. Only in a very few cases has there been more than a shadow of a doubt as to the accuracy of the decision of the officials. Their decisions from the playing floor have probably been more accurate than the decision of irate fans in the cheering (or booing) sections.

In case of legitimate doubt, we ought to let the coaches and captains argue it out with the officials. Probably they know more about what goes on than do those in the stands. Fans should remember two facts: As the home school playing teams from some distance Bowling Green has a huge psychological advantage of numbers. And opponents marked as visitors on the scoreboard are also our guests.

Democracy and responsibility

by Dick Price and Barry Menagh

While the radios were giving forth with a White Christmas, the people were very nearly faced with a dark one. And that annoyed them. The fact that industry was coming to a standstill and the fact that education was being called to a halt did not concern the people. But ultimately when theatre marquees were darkened, then the people decided that they had had enough. Only when an extended vacation was in prospect, did college students become interested—but in a different fashion.

Even after we had observed one man wielding so much power that democratic functions were impaired—even after the conflict became a first-hand laboratory observation of the function of the power of the people against the power of an autocrat—still the students of this university were so unconcerned with values that they refused to interest themselves enough to use their right to determine their own kind of government. The handful of votes on the student government constitution is an indictment of the responsibility of Bowling Green students.

Believing for or against an issue is no longer the important thing, as long as one at least indicates a belief. "Until a man has possessed a sense of duty, and a sense of duty has possessed him, he begins at no beginning and proceeds to no ending."

Coach Andy's Cage Squads Put BG On The Sports Map

Bowling Green has been put on the map in sports by the nation-wide recognition which Coach Harold Anderson's Falcon cagers have won. Now entering the struggle to win an invitation to the national finals in Madison Square Garden for the third straight year, the squads have shown that "Andy" knows how to build top-flight quintets far beyond ordinary standards.

Students Have U. S. Christmas

The popular song, "I'll be Home for Christmas" is off key to the foreign students, but most of them will celebrate with friends and relatives. Unable to go home, some will be the guests of their classmates while others will remain on campus.

Marta McKay, from Panama, will visit her cousin in Wisconsin and then travel to New York and the bright lights. Her roommate at Williams hall, Esperanza Mendoza, will go to New York after seeing Pennsylvania. Puerto Rico is a long way from Bowling Green so Walter Pooley will take his roommate, Carlos Roldan, along with him to Pittsburgh.

A trip to Canada has coeds Kristin Lind and Gundrun Moe excited. They are anxious to compare it with their native Norway and with Bowling Green.

Both Hooshang Irfani, whose home is in Iran, and Jaime Vives, of Puerto Rico, will remain on campus over the holiday.

William Buck is the only "foreign" student who will celebrate at home. By combining hitchhiking, trains, buses (and a stagecoach for the last ninety miles) he expects to make Decatur, Alabama, by Christmas day.

'Poor Rec Hall,' We Used It Well

by Glenna Steele

Alas, poor Rec hall, (apologies to Shakespeare). No more will all-campus dances be held within its walls because, like Topsy, the enrollment "just grewed."

At one time B.G. students majoring in extra-curriculars did their all-campus dancing there, exclusively. Then someone got the brilliant idea that the Men's gym would be even better for the purpose.

Its popularity declined and it became the scene of only a few of the many dances of the year.

Last year we danced after dusk to discs almost every week end but all of a sudden there were too many feet per foot . . . and this year . . . alas, poor Rec hall, we used it well.

If Ya Don't Play, Ya Don't Count

The surest way to become a social outcast, next to having the Creeping Chinese Crud, is not to know how to play bridge. Anyone who has spent long hours looking for a friendly "hello" only to have it turn into a sour "we'll get someone else," upon learning of his deficiency, will agree.

By the time the first bright-eyed, cheerful frosh arrived this fall the gimlet-eyed intelligentsia had already laid plans for their fiendish conquest.

Their first step was to secure all the tables and chairs in the Nest and to buy up all the card decks in town. The next was to cut the goats (players) from the herd and leave the sheep to drift by themselves from class to class never sure when a wrong word would let the outside world in on their dread secret.

Hey, all you bridge players, let's get busy and start practicing (as is you need any) for the Alpha Gamma Delta bridge tournament scheduled in March.

Sure, it's a little early, but plenty of stiff competition is anticipated for this event which is open to all sorority, fraternity, dormitory and veteran groups.

Scurrying around the lower regions of the Ad building, they were always on the lookout for some helpful individual who would volunteer to teach them the "game of the century."

With mournful wails, they stood in the cold air outside the Nest watching the elect play within. While the goats gambolled, the sheep were forced to study and think of the days when a man was a man and not a shark in goat's clothing.

Don't Be Sendin' Any Old Card

by Lois Paine

With the traditional snow and sleigh bells of the yule season come little pieces of paper called Christmas cards. Folded in half in book fashion the front usually pictures anything from a snowy landscape to Santa Claus stuck in a chimney some skeptic made too small. Inside is a verse meant to bring joy and a warm glow to the lucky recipient.

The first cards sought when Christmas card shopping, are those for the fond parents. Some cards address the rhyme jointly to "Ma and Pa," but better yet are cards giving a whole verse to each.

The greatest problem comes when trying to find a card for the love interest of the moment. The only choice is between a "Sweetheart" card, which avows everlasting love, and one to "A Dear Friend" with its platonic affectionate verse. If you decide on the Sweetheart card you may commit yourself to goin steady or some such fate. On the other hand, that platonic card may bring a cold shoulder the next time you see The One. This situation seems to be the unsolvable problem of Christmas card manufacturers.

The list now includes relatives who love you anyway, friends who realize you're short of money, and those that "sent you one last year but whom you forgot." Cards for these people may be bought in boxes of one or two dozen each. The texts are assorted so that you can find a touching verse for old Aunt Emma who might leave you her best pearl ear rings one day, and in the same box, a cool greeting for the girl that forgot to return your best sweater.

After you've spent more than your allowance buying these messages of good cheer, and have writers' cramp from addressing them, you'll probably wonder if the effort is worth while. But isn't it?

Coeds Sprout Wings

'Pepper' Beeler and Peggy Shetler, Bowling Green coeds, are among the nearly 300 students receiving flight training at Bricker field.

Versatile Coeds Learn to Fly

At Bricker field, two coeds are proving that men aren't the only air-minded students at Bowling Green.

The girls, Mary "Pepper" Beeler and Peggy Shetler, are ex-service women receiving flight training under the GI Bill of Rights.

Roommates at the Delta Gamma House, the pair were in the Marine Corps and stationed at Quantico, Va., together. Peggy was a Marine for eighteen months and Pepper for twelve.

Both hope to solo after they have gained the necessary eight hours of flight instructions in the air. Because she has taken more lessons, Peggy expects to solo before Pepper.

They are enthusiastic about flying as "entirely different from anything on the ground."

With a private license, they hope to fly in their spare time. "That is, if we have any," laughed Pepper.

Ed Hale, chief flight instructor says, "The girls are holding their own with the men and are displaying a great deal of interest in flying." Then he added, "They'll make the grade."

Workshop Players Mix Work and Play

Pleasure and work were mixed on closing night of "The Invaders." After the show and curtain calls the members of the cast and about 15 workshop players began the task of striking down the set. Afterwards an informal party of coffee and sandwiches was held backstage.

A student was refused admission to Western Michigan College because all classroom seats were occupied. His ingenuity and determination caused the ban to be lifted by a very simple plan. He now carries his own folding chair to class.

From Texas Christian University comes a tale of something that could only happen in an English class of G.I. students. Miss Rippy, the instructor, wrote on the board, "Jack is a Captain," and went on to explain that in this case the word "Captain" was a predicate nominative.

"Now if I said, Jack struck the captain," continued Miss Rippy, "what would that be?" Without hesitation the class answered in unison, "Court Martial!"

The Inquiring Reporter received many varied answers at Rollins College when he asked Do you think that chivalry is dead at Rollins? Ladies first, so here are the gals' replies:

1. Do you mean there is a question?
2. Why, no. I open doors for boys every day.
3. It's not chivalry that's dead.
4. Chivalry isn't dead; it just isn't doing so well.

The lads come back with:

1. Chivalry went out with the seven-teenth amendment.
2. No. Acts of chivalry are seen on the campus every day. Why else would men put up with such women?
3. There is no such thing—chivalry is hypocrisy.
4. I try to satisfy all. If that's what they want that's what they'll get.

Overheard at Toledo University's last football game was the following conversation:

Man: (in dismay): Gee, we should have brought the radio with us.

Wife: Why? Are they broadcasting the game?

Man: No, but I left the tickets home on it!

Hilltoppers Edged
For Victory No. 10

Bowling Green's basketballers kept their perfect record intact so far this season as they drubbed Wilmington College 75 to 41 and then edged out the Hilltoppers of Western Kentucky 39 to 37 Saturday night in their second doubleheader in four days. The Falcons notched their ninth and tenth wins of the year by virtue of this twin-killing.

Bee Gee Tops
Kazoo, Bluffton

The BG Falcons managed two close victories last Wednesday—one over Bluffton 57-45, the other over Kalamazoo 57-47. A fair crowd saw the games but there were lots of empty seats.

In all Coach Fred Marsh used 19 men in the lid opener. Bluffton had one very good man, Ernie Raber, tall center, who bagged five out of five in the first period giving the Beavers a 12-9 lead at the quarter over Conroy, Green, Share, Blateric and Smithy of the BG varsity squad.

A Jay-Vee group of Boughman, Long, Calas, Miller and Mulvaine tied the game up 19-all at the half. Conroy and Blateric were ably assisted by Max Minnich in a last half drive which downed Bluffton.

The varsity game was a tough one for the Falcons. Kalamazoo brought a very good crew to town but they were flagrantly rough, committing so many very unnecessary fouls and such obvious ones that it was evident early that most of them would not last the full game.

Three of them didn't. Four others needed only one more to bench them. Officials Cupp and Chuckovits called 36 on them during the game and 15 on BG.

The score was tied at 9 and 13 before the Hornets took a 20-17 lead. It was later tied at 22 before the visitors went in front 25-24 and then two quick baskets by Stan Weber and one by Payak gave the Falcons a 30-25 lead at the half.

The Hornets tied it at 35, went ahead 38-36 before a free throw by Payak and a foul by Weber put Bee Gee into the lead. At the official time with 4 to go, BG led 44-42 and they went on from there to win with three Hornets sent to the showers.

Conroy led the scoring for Bowling Green with nine points.

Western Kentucky proved to be a thrilling ball game as was expected when the invading Hilltoppers almost tied the score in the last minute of play.

Johnny Payak, flashing brilliant form all evening, put the Falcons into the lead in the first minute of the contest as he hooped a field goal from the side. Spears of Western Kentucky, who caused the Falcons a lot of trouble all night, tied it up 2-2, but Mac Otten came right back with a tip-in to give Bowling Green the lead once more.

The Falcons continued to hold this slim margin and led 10 to 8 at the end of the first period. Both teams displayed a tight defense and the Falcons only managed to gain one point on the Hilltoppers the second period as the half ended 19 to 16.

Third a Thriller

Bowling Green looked as if they might start moving in the third period as Howard Martin opened the scoring at the beginning of the quarter. But the Hilltoppers began to penetrate the Falcon defense and Parsley of Western Kentucky tied the score at 22 apiece. Coach Harold Anderson's charges regained the lead and led 28 to 22 at the end of the third period.

Mid-way in the last stanza, Western Kentucky lost Spears and McKinney, both of whom had played outstanding ball throughout the game, via the personal foul route. With Payak and Otten again sparking the Bowling Green offense the Falcons ran up what looked like a safe lead.

But That Fourth . . .

Then the excitement started when Western Kentucky repeatedly stole the ball and broke down the floor to score four baskets. With 14 seconds remaining in the game, a foul was called on the Hilltoppers as they tried desperately to get possession of the ball and Bowling Green elected to take the ball out instead of shooting the foul. Western Kentucky again got the ball and brought the frenzied audience to their feet as they tried without success to tie the score as the final gun sounded.

Mac Otten and John Payak were high point men for the Falcons with 12 points apiece and Spears led the Western Kentucky scorers with 10. Each team scored 15 field goals but Bowling Green scored its margin of victory from the foul line as it made nine free throws to the visitors' seven. Seventeen personal fouls were called on the Hilltoppers and 14 on the Falcons.

Stan Weber who started in place of Joe Seigferth to give Bowling Green added height played a fine defensive game and showed much promise for future contest.

Fast action and plenty of baskets were the order of the day in the overtime win Bee Gee eked out against Pepperdine, 60-58.

no crowds?

Student tax tickets for the two home basketball games during vacation will be on sale the rest of the week in the athletic office.

Albion, Michigan, will come to Bowling Green on Monday, Dec. 30. Ticket sales close today for this game.

Loyola, one of the best teams on the schedule, will play here Saturday, Jan. 4. Tickets for this game, to be played only two days before vacation ends, will be on sale tomorrow and Friday.

Mermen Register
Second Victory

Evidently Bowling Green has a powerful swimming team. The Falcons walked away from the Bishops in a dual meet here Saturday afternoon as though the latter were not in the meet at all.

Bee Gee won 68 to 7 and in dual swimming meets that is the ultimate because one team can get no more points than that and the other one can get no fewer.

The visiting team was able to collect seven third places and they wouldn't have done that if the third BG man, swimming in an extra lane, had counted.

A couple of pool records were threatened during the afternoon which came to a climax in the 440 yard free style distance race in which Pete Kline, a freshman from Akron, broke the pool record.

Kline outdistanced all others, lapping the Bishops once and a half and came home three tenths of a second under the mark set by Joe Racz in 1942. The new mark is 5 minutes 26 seconds.

It was the second straight win for Coach Sam Cooper's outfit and its last competition until January 11 when they will be home against Ohio University.

Falcons Head East
For First Road Trip

The Falcons headed east this week, and the competition they will meet will challenge their fifth place standing in the nation and also their win streak.

City College of New York will be host to the Bowling Green quintet on Dec. 19. The game will be played at Madison Square Garden.

Pre-season Ratings
Place B.G. Cagers
With Nation's Best

Further praise was heaped on Coach Anderson and his Falcons last week by Dick Dunkel, nationally prominent sports authority. In his annual pre-season ratings released through Colliers magazine, the Falcons were rated fifth in the nation and first in Ohio.

The only schools topping the Falcons were the perennially tough Kentucky, Illinois, Notre Dame and New York U. quintets in that order. Ohio State, defending Big Nine champs, immediately followed B.G. in sixth place.

Of the teams rated ahead of Bowling Green, Notre Dame and Illinois have already tasted defeat. The Illini, with their famous "Whiz Kids" back from the service, were upset by Southern Illinois while Wisconsin took the measure of the Irish in an overtime battle.

With eleven victories already under their belts, the Falcons can well claim the honor of being the first or second team in the country today.

High School Letters
Frowned Upon

Varsity club has joined forces with the athletic board in requesting that students only wear letters and numerals won here at B.G.

The practice of wearing sweaters from high schools tends to draw light from those athletes really deserving of their monograms. The men who have won their letters have worked hard for them and are proud of their feats. But how can they be justifiably proud when they see every other letter in the alphabet floating around the campus?

It is all right to wear the sweaters with the stripes from high school but leave the letter at home. They are appreciated a whole lot more in your home town anyhow.

Dutch Send Tulips To Alpha Xi's

by Glenna Steele

Next spring, tulips will bloom around the Alpha Xi Delta house here, and throughout the country.

During the war, Noordwyck, a small fishing village in the Netherlands was almost ruined so, as a national philanthropy, the sorority adopted it and sent money to aid the destitute villagers.

To show their gratitude, the villagers sent hundreds of prize tulip bulbs to the Alpha Xi Delta national office for distribution to the many chapters.

Three dozen of these bulbs were planted last Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by a planting committee composed of Dorothy Albright, Barbara Hoierman, Marcia Hachtel, Betty Poland, Blanche Spangler, and Joan Whitacre.

Prospective teachers from the university, under the guidance of Dr. Z. E. Gee, have been making trips to high schools in Ohio to create a sense of importance of the public schools.

Sent by the College of Education, the first group of these students went to Port Clinton High School, where they conducted a forum at the November meeting of the Parent-Teacher's Association.

The student speakers who presented short talks followed by a question period, were Nancy Hammons, June Cater, Lelah Shepar, Bonnie Fay, and Lillian Bueznli.

A second group went to Tiro, last Monday to interest the honor students of Crawford county in teaching as a profession. Speakers were Bonnie Fay, Joan Hillar, Betty Ritz, Beverly Blecker, and Mary Russell.

A forum for the juniors and seniors in the upper half of their high school class at Fremont was conducted Monday by Muriel Bond, Doris Smart, Margaret McCullough, Frances Korhumel, and Mark Welker.

Home of Industrial Arts Dept. Renamed

"The Shop," home of the industrial arts department, has a new name, "Industrial Arts Building." It is located at Bricker field, university airport, half a mile north of the campus.

Dr. Thomas E. French, former head of the department of engineering at Ohio State university, obtained the design used for the letters in Rome, Italy, from the Trojan Column. The column was erected in A. D. 114 and has carved on it the story of the siege of Troy.
